Desperate Efforts to Bolster Roten Royalty.

SPECKLES OFFER TO PUT UP A MILLION

Royalists Refuse to Pay Taxes to the Provisional Government.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Associated Press advices from Honolulu, June 29: Yesterday afternoon's developments in the now famous conspiracy case were quite sensational. The preliminary examination of Crick, Walker and Sinclair went on, and as each successive witness was examined the stronger the government's case appeared to be. Testimony was introduced that Claus Spreckle was to assist in the restoration of the royalists by a one million dollar appropriation for troops. Crick, Walker and Sinclair are believed to be only the tools of the more prominent men. It is not believed that Spreckle is connected with the conspiracy. A new move on the part of the royalists is to take action as to the legality of paying taxes to the provisional government.

HERMAN ON SILVER.

Our Congressman Favors a Change of Ratio.

FAILURE TO ENFORCE THE LAW.

Assigned as the Cause of the Present Crisis.

Herman on Silver.

PORTLAND, July 6.—Congressman Herman in his address at Roseburg on the Fourth, said: "In reference to the silver question, believing in free mintage of silver as well as gold, but fearing that the United States alone cannot maintain the present ratio of 16 to 1, I favor a change of ratio." In the event of a failure to secure free coinage he believed the government would be able to encourage larger circulation of silver by demonetizing gold coin of less denomination than ten dollars. In his judgment the present crisis is more chargeable to failure to enforce the Sherman law, than to the law itself. The treasury department should redeem silver bullion certificates in silver as well as gold. He further said the Sherman law should not be repealed until a better guarantee is had that silver shall be recognized upon a just ratio with gold and as free to the mints of the nation as gold itself. "It is more money and good money we want, not less."

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Black lace over white lace is very delicate and beautiful in effect, especially in the evening, with diamond ornaments. Blouses, hawthorn sprays, pink and white morning glories and black hearted meadow daisies of brilliant yellow are fastened on low hats of open work neapolitan braid. Graceful little matador jackets for young ladies are exhibited made of ladies' cloth and also of velvet in one plain color—deep blue, olive green, petunia, golden brown and black.

Besides the plain, severe, straight brimmed sailor hat, matrons this season wear the shape that in some millinery parlors is called the Tyrolean, and in others the Princess of Wales hat. Some of the newest lace dresses are made with a little train, and very young ladies wear black lace dresses made in empire fashion over foundation of pale yellow sash or rose pink hatiste.

Colored linen dresses are most fashionably worn. Holland jackets and skirts are extremely popular, but look rather flat, especially when, as is usual, they are trimmed with black satin.

Stylish and pretty tailor made directoire vests in linen duck, pique, plain and figured, and very fine silk and wool mixtures in dotted, sprigged and shot effects in blue or black grounds, are often seen. There are few fabrics that surpass mohair and alpaca in their dust resisting and admirable wearing qualities. These goods are now dyed in a great many of the new shades and look particularly effective in rose color shot with gray and reads shading into pale golden russet.—New York Evening Post.

ENGLISH NOVELTIES.

Liquor bottles are now being made tall and narrow in form, with silver plated tops.

Vases on glass wheels, supported by lacquered brass, are among the seasonable novelties for table decoration.

The "new brierrose" ware is the name of the latest adaptation of terra cotta fancy goods for painting purposes.

A canoe in a lovely shade of art green glass, with gilded prow and stern, is among the new shapes in flower vases for table decoration.

Glass dishes, round, square, oval and rhomboidal, with a small vase on one side and a larger on the other, are considered the perfection of art work in new goods.—Jewelry Circular.

FOREIGN CABLEGRAMS.

HONOLULU, July 6.—Claus Spreckle discovered early on the morning of June 22d the following placard, ornamented with a skull and crossbones, posted on the gate of his residence, "Gold and silver will not lead." This statement, in view of his opposition to the provisional government, seemed very significant to Mr. Spreckle and he immediately carried the placard to Minister Blount. The American minister took Spreckle's statement down and sent it to President Dole without comment. Mr. Spreckle's home is now guarded by a stalwart native policeman.

LONDON, July 6.—The work of rescuing the living miners and recovering the bodies of the dead is being pushed as rapidly as possible in Ingram's colliery, Yorkshire, the scene of yesterday's explosion. Thus far the bodies of thirty-eight dead, some terribly crushed or burned, have been sent to the surface. The air in the pit is comparatively good today. This leads to the hope that some of the men may have reached places of safety, and are still alive. It is believed that of the 145 men in the mine at the time of the explosion, at least 110 are dead. Wednesday evening 88 bodies had been recovered.

LIMA, July 6.—Juan Revoredo, mayor of Lima, has assumed the leadership of the Cacerist party. He believes it is possible to make an arrangement with Chilli regarding the disposition of Tacna and Arica, on the basis of a commercial treaty, under which there shall be freedom of trade. The chief difficulty is that Chilli insists upon the payment of the $10,000,000 in money provided for in the treaty of 1893.

MONTREAL, July 6.—Fine weather is greeting the Christian Endeavor delegates. Several special trains arrive, bringing delegates from the Western states. The California delegation has not reached here yet, so the question of whether the convention will meet there in 1895 could not be decided today. The first meeting will be held today.

PARIS, July 6.—There was a scene of uproar in the chamber of deputies over the motion to proceed to discuss rights in the city which the government opposed. The extremists precipitated a scene of utmost disorder over the matter and it was impossible to transact any business for some time. Finally the matter was postponed by a decided majority.

MADRID, July 6.—It the cortes, in response to a question by Tera, one of the Spanish delegates to the recent international monetary conference at Brussels, Gamazo, minister of finance, said Spain did not need to adopt special measures to meet the silver crisis. He believed the present depression in silver would soon be remedied.

SIMLA, July 6.—Replying to a question in the legislative council, Sir David Miller Barbour, financial member of the vice-regal council, said under the new order sovereigns would be accepted to an unlimited extent by the Indian mints. Bank of England notes would not be accepted. Silver now en route to India is to be taken only to avoid a commercial panic. There is no hope that the civil servants would receive a retrospective compensation.

LONDON, July 6.—It is reported from the United States that King George of Greece has abdicated and a republic has been proclaimed. The consul-general here pronounces the report preposterous.

BERLIN, July 6.—The Reichstag by a large majority elected Herr Von Levetzow, conservative, president.
